

WIN A SPANISH CRUISE WORTH £3,500

Do you dream of going on a cruise, but think you'd never be able to afford it? Well we've got a fantastic 15-day cruise for two worth £3,500 to give away to a lucky reader.

Swan Hellenic's Minerva will be sailing into Portsmouth's new terminal for the first time next month after a cruise taking in Portugal, Spain, France and the Channel Islands.

To celebrate her move to her new home port, we've teamed up with Swan Hellenic to provide a fantastic prize of an inside twin cabin on Minerva's final cruise out of Portsmouth for 2011.

A Spanish Summer departs on August 19 and travels from Portsmouth to Livorno in Italy, taking in the tiny Channel Island of Sark and La Coruna on the very northwest tip of Spain.

Minerva then sails to the picturesque old city of Oporto, around the coast of Portugal to southern Spain and the truly Spanish region of Andalucia, home of flamenco and sherry.

Here our winner and a guest will explore Cadiz and Malaga before arriving at Spain's most important naval port, Cartagena.

From here they will discover three of the Mediterranean's prettiest islands - Menorca, Sardinia and Corsica.

Then it's off to Livorno where passengers can spend a day visiting the Leaning Tower of Pisa or Florence before catching a flight home.

Minerva will sail into Portsmouth for the first time in June. The Rivers and Vineyard cruise, which costs £1295 per person (no single supplements), will depart from Lisbon on June 8. Minerva will call at the bustling city of Oporto, the Spanish town of Gijon and the wine regions of Rioja.

Bordeaux will be the next port of call, followed by St Peter Port in the Channel Islands and St Malo in France before Minerva stops off at Rouen and Giverny - the picturesque home of Monet.

Passengers on this cruise will get the unique opportunity to witness Minerva sail into Portsmouth for the first time. Her subsequent cruise, on June 22, will be played away in style at the quayside by The Band of HM Royal Marines Portsmouth.

As with all Swan Hellenic itineraries, the Spanish Summer cruise includes tailor-made shore excursions in every port including all entrance fees and gratuities, an integrated programme of talks by eminent guest speakers, all meals with open-seating dining, welcome and farewell cocktail parties and gala dinners, plus afternoon tea aboard Minerva and flights where applicable to/from a London airport.
